DETAILED ACTION

Applicant's amendment dated 10/19/2006 has been received and entered. Claims 1-18 are remain pending in the application.

Applicant's arguments have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejections as follow.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1, 6, 9-11, 15 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's admitted prior art (APA), figure 3, in view of Park et al., US Patent 6,587,355.

Regarding the above claims, APA, figure 3, discloses a liquid crystal display (LCD) apparatus comprising:

- . an LCD panel (300);
- . a driver printed circuit board (PCB 310);
- . a backlight assembly (320);
- . a received container (part between backlight 320 and PCB 310);
- . a digitizer (330).

APA, figure 3, however, does not disclose first and second protrusion forming on a back side of the received container. Park et al. does disclose protrusion (part between frame 82 and PCB 4) can be protruded from a mold frame structure (82)(see figure 4A) to form a receiving part (e.g., screw hole) and support the driver PCB. Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention was made to employ the APA's container having protrusions with receiving parts as shown by Park et al. for supporting the driver PCB.

3. Claims 2-5, 7-8, 12-14 and 16-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Applicant's admitted prior art (APA), figure 3, in view of Park et al., US Patent 6,587,355, further in view of Won, US Patent 6,046,785.

Regarding the above claims, the modification to APA disclose the claimed invention as described above except for first and second connection portions forming on a back side of the received container as well as the driver PCB including third and fourth connection portions corresponding to the first and second connection portions. Won does disclose protrusions can be formed from a mold frame structure (19)(see figure 1 and 2A) and forming connection portions corresponding to PCB connection portion (30) and connected together through a screw/screw hole (through hole over PCB 30). Therefore, it would have been obvious to one skilled in the art at the time of the invention was made to employ the APA's container having protrusions for forming connection portions to support the driver PCB through the PCB connection portions as shown by Won in order to stably ground the PCB.

Conclusion

4. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).
